Entry-Level Chat Engagement Agent – Remote – $25–$35/Hour – No Degree Required – Online Chat Support Jobs

Description

Role Overview

We are seeking Entry-Level Chat Engagement Agents for remote roles paying $25–$35 per hour. This fully online position requires no prior job experience or college degree and is perfect for individuals looking to start a work-from-home career in customer service. All communication is done through written chat and email—no phone calls, no meetings, and no video conferencing. If you're dependable, a strong communicator, and ready to earn from home, this job offers flexibility, stability, and full training from day one.

The Client & What You'll Be Doing

Our client is a digital support agency working with top-tier brands in the ecommerce, digital content, and wellness spaces. These brands depend on responsive, well-written customer support delivered entirely through live chat and email. As a Chat Engagement Agent, you'll respond to incoming questions about subscriptions, shipping, product functionality, and billing—resolving issues with empathy and precision. You'll manage conversations using a browser-based dashboard, applying templates, live tools, and knowledge base references to deliver accurate, professional service.

Primary Job Tasks

- Respond to live chat messages in real time, assisting customers with login issues, billing questions, or product usage guidance.
- Reply to customer emails submitted through the brand's support portal, using structured formats and tone-appropriate language.
- Track conversation history in the internal CRM and enter notes on each case for follow-up or documentation.
- Reference internal help documentation to identify accurate and compliant answers to customer questions.
- Personalize saved replies to ensure each customer receives a human-sounding response, not a script.
- Tag and categorize tickets according to the type of request, urgency level, and action taken.
- Escalate technical errors, fraud concerns, or brand-sensitive issues to supervisors via chat thread handoff.
- Maintain internal quality standards including reply times (under 60 seconds for chat, under 30 minutes for email).
- Attend optional text-based coaching sessions and participate in writing assessments designed to help you grow.
- Identify areas of improvement in templates, help center articles, or system

A Typical Shift Breakdown

Early in Your Shift

You'll start by logging into your ticket dashboard, scanning internal updates, and picking up any rollover tickets from previous shifts. This is also the best time to warm up by answering simple email questions.

Mid-Shift Workload

This is peak chat time. You'll manage several concurrent live conversations while continuing to respond to email tickets. You'll use shortcuts and macros, but must personalize each response to maintain the client's voice.

Wrapping Up

You'll finish all live chats, tag any unresolved issues, and flag anything requiring team lead review. Finally, you'll submit a brief end-of-shift report and make sure your ticket queue is clear for the next agent.

Who We're Looking For

- No experience required—ideal for new job seekers or remote work beginners
- No degree required—skills over credentials
- Typing speed of 40 WPM or more with strong accuracy
- Excellent grammar and written tone in English
- Calm, customer-first attitude when handling multiple inquiries
- Able to navigate basic web tools and multitask between chats and documentation
- Consistently available for scheduled shifts (15–40 hours per week)
- Comfortable receiving written feedback and improving from it
- Independent worker who thrives in a quiet, structured remote environment
- Reliable internet and access to a personal computer (laptop or desktop only)

Tips for Performing at a High Level

Writing & Typing Fluency

Fast, clean writing is the key to great customer support. Proofread everything. Use polite transitions, and never send robotic messages.

Learning Product Details

Your best tool is the brand's documentation. You'll have searchable help articles at your fingertips—become fluent in searching and applying solutions.

Written Tone and Customer Care

Be friendly, direct, and respectful. You're not a robot—sound helpful without overdoing it. If someone's upset, acknowledge it and focus on solving the issue.

Managing Live Workload

It can get hectic. Use tab organization and ticket tagging tools. Always finish replies before jumping to the next conversation.

Handling Remote Independence

No micromanagement here. You'll be expected to manage your own day, meet quality expectations, and keep an eye on system updates.

Growing With Feedback

Each week, your responses will be reviewed. You'll be scored on accuracy, tone, and speed. Embrace this feedback—it helps you earn more and grow fast.

Getting Started with the ClientInitial Application

Send a resume or availability summary. Let us know your timezone, computer setup, and preferred hours. No cover letter is needed.

Written/Typing Skills Assessment

You'll complete a short writing test and a chat simulation to assess typing speed, tone, and ability to follow instructions.

Interview or Chat Simulation

If selected, you'll join a simulated support session, where we'll observe how you handle real-world inquiries using our chat platform.

Remote Training (Paid)

Training lasts 3–4 days and is fully paid. You'll learn the platform, tone guides, escalation procedures, and live chat pacing techniques.

Trial Period With Coaching

Your first 10 shifts are supervised with daily reviews. Coaches will give you actionable tips to improve quickly and qualify for higher-paying tiers.

Ongoing Work Assignment

Upon successful trial completion, you'll receive your weekly shift schedule, unlock bonus opportunities, and be eligible for long-term promotions.

Workplace Environment

This team works across multiple time zones with asynchronous communication. There are no meetings or calls—just written interaction via Slack and shared ticket threads. All support is written, all coaching is documented, and your performance is measured by how you write—not how often you're seen.

Perks and Extras

- Paid virtual onboarding
- Flexible work-from-home schedule
- Shift consistency and growth stability
- Access to Grammarly Premium, chat macros, and training tools
- No meetings, no phone calls—100% chat and email
- Monthly writing-based bonuses
- Equipment stipend available after 30 days
- Growth paths to QA, content, or supervisor roles

Why This Role May Be the Right Fit for You

If you're looking for online chat support jobs that don't require a resume full of experience or a college diploma, this position gives you everything you need to succeed. With competitive pay, full support, and a calm, phone-free workday, you'll build valuable digital communication skills while helping real customers solve real problems.

Applicant Questions Answered

Is experience really not required?

Correct. You'll be trained from scratch. Your writing ability is what matters most.

Are phone calls part of the job?

No. There are zero voice calls. All support is handled through chat and email.

Can I apply from outside the U.S.?

Yes. This is a global role open to applicants in most countries.

How are shifts assigned?

You'll be able to choose from available shift blocks. Most are set weekly, with some flexibility.

What computer setup is required?

Laptop or desktop (no tablets), Google Chrome browser, and a reliable internet connection (25 Mbps minimum).

What's the payment schedule?

Weekly or biweekly, depending on your region and payment method.

Next Steps to Apply

Apply now by submitting your resume and completing the written test. Qualified candidates will be invited to training within 3–5 business days. This is one of the best online chat support jobs available for those with no experience—don't miss your spot. Apply today and start building your remote future.
