

<https://jobtacular.com/job/remote-publishing-assistant-entry-level-opportunity-for-aspiring-freelance-writers/>

LEARN MORE

Remote Publishing Assistant – Entry-Level Opportunity for Aspiring Freelance Writers

Description

Job Title: Remote Publishing Assistant – Entry-Level Opportunity for Aspiring Freelance Writers Location: Remote – Work from Anywhere Compensation: Royalties earned from Amazon Kindle book sales (Performance-Based) Schedule: Flexible, Self-Managed – Part-Time or Full-Time Experience Required: None – Open to Beginners Education Required: No Degree Needed Company Overview: We partner with individuals seeking to transition out of the unpredictable world of freelance writing by helping them explore royalty-based income through Kindle book publishing. Our system empowers first-time publishers to generate nonfiction books using structured outlines, idea templates, and public domain content. This opportunity offers a scalable and sustainable alternative to traditional online writing jobs, with a clear focus on building passive income instead of chasing clients or word count quotas Role Summary: This is not a contract writing job or salaried position. Instead, it is an income-building opportunity designed for people who want to create digital content once and earn from it repeatedly. As a Remote Publishing Assistant, you will follow a simple, replicable system to create nonfiction books for the Amazon Kindle platform. You'll use outline templates and research guides to structure your content, upload your books through Amazon's publishing tools, and begin receiving royalties as your books generate sales. There's no client pressure, no deadlines, and no ongoing delivery tasks—just a step-by-step framework for building long-term publishing income. Responsibilities Include: • Researching nonfiction niches with strong buyer interest using niche discovery tools • Following proven book outline templates to structure chapters and subtopics • Compiling research-backed content using summaries, public domain material, or topic breakdowns • Formatting manuscripts using standard eBook guidelines • Uploading finished books to the Kindle Direct Publishing dashboard • Monitoring sales reports and publishing additional titles to increase monthly income A Typical Workflow Might Look Like: • Morning: Review a list of top-performing nonfiction niches and select a topic that aligns with market demand • Midday: Use the provided outline structure to map out your book, then compile content using reference guides or public domain sources • Afternoon: Finalize formatting and upload the book to the Kindle platform, then check sales metrics on previous titles • Evening: Brainstorm or outline your next book idea to begin production Why This Role Makes Sense for Online Writers: Freelance writing is often unstable, exhausting, and underpaid. Writers spend hours chasing new projects, responding to revision requests, and working under tight deadlines. This publishing path offers the opposite. You build the product once and let Amazon handle the sales and delivery. No cold emails. No invoicing. No client drama. Just structured content that you control and profit from indefinitely. Ideal Candidate Qualities: • Self-motivated and comfortable working independently • Interested in building online income streams • Frustrated by low-paying writing gigs and unpredictable clients • Willing to follow a proven publishing

Hiring organization

Remote Writing Jobs No Experience Needed

Base Salary

$ 8000 - $ 10000

Industry

Customer Service

Job Location

Remote work possible

Date posted

September 21, 2025

Valid through

01.01.2029

process step-by-step• Eager to build content assets rather than deliver short-term projects• Comfortable learning simple tools for formatting and uploading

No Prior Experience Necessary:Most participants start with no writing or publishing background. You don't need to be a wordsmith—you just need to be able to organize and format content using a provided outline. Creativity is optional. Consistency and execution are more important than writing skills. Whether you're repurposing information, using public domain texts, or structuring existing ideas, your job is to build a readable, valuable digital product—not to create a literary masterpiece.

Tools and Platforms Used:• Google Docs or Microsoft Word for manuscript prep• Kindle Direct Publishing for uploading and managing book listings• Royalty tracking spreadsheets and sales performance dashboards• Optional cover creation tools or pre-made designs• Prebuilt outline templates and book structure guidesNo special software or graphic design skills required. Everything can be executed with basic tech knowledge

Income and Royalties:This opportunity does not pay hourly wages. Your income comes from Amazon Kindle royalties, which range from 35% to 70% of each book's sale price. As the book creator and publisher, you keep full rights to your titles. Earnings grow over time as your book catalog expands. Many participants start seeing income within their first 30–45 days and continue building as they publish more titles. You decide the pace, the volume, and the topics.

Work-Life Fit and Flexibility:This opportunity is designed for independence. Work as little or as much as you want. There are no time requirements, check-ins, or location restrictions. You can build your publishing business in the evenings, on weekends, or during spare hours. Whether you're juggling work, school, or parenting, this model is flexible enough to fit into your schedule.

This Role Is Not:• A paid freelance contract• A full-time employee position• A ghostwriting or editing gig• A creative writing contest• A short-term writing job for clientsInstead, this is your entry point into self-directed digital publishing. Your books are your business. You decide what you create, how fast you scale, and how much you earn.

How to Get Started:To learn how to implement this publishing model for yourself, visit KindleRiches.com. There, you'll get access to a breakdown of the system, including how first-time publishers are using simplified content methods to build income from nonfiction Kindle books without writing expertise. You'll see examples, income potential, and the step-by-step framework that makes this opportunity work—even if you've never published before.

Conclusion:Online writing jobs are oversaturated, competitive, and increasingly underpaid. If you want to build income that works on your schedule—and continues paying you after the work is done—publishing is the smarter choice. This opportunity allows you to turn your time and ideas into products that earn on autopilot. You don't need clients. You don't need a resume. You don't even need to be a writer. You just need a system. Visit KindleRiches.com today to explore the full publishing framework and see how you can start earning royalties from content you create.

LEARN MORE

Disclosure

Disclaimer: Please note that Jobtacular.com is NOT a recruitment agency. We are not an agent or representative of any employer.

Marketing Disclosure: This website is a marketplace. As such you should know that the owner has a monetary connection to the product and services advertised on the site. The owner receives payment whenever a qualified lead is referred but that is the extent of it. Be sure to check out our partner sites at RemoteJobsSite.com, YourRemoteWork.com and Joballstar.com